ble, heap abuse upon the state prose-cutor, against the press and impugn the court of prejudice against him he made a very bad impression.

The fact that Mortensen was going to address the court in his own behalf attracted enormous crowds to the court room. In the morning many hung around the corridor. So noisy did the court had become that figulty did the crowd become that finally Judge Morse had to have everyone in the south end of the corridor moved either to the north end or the ones below. In the afternoon there was another overflow, the room not being able to accompanie express hundred who to accommodate several hundred who came too late to get in.

Well Remembered Scenes.

When the case was called the scene greatly resembled those attendant upon the trial a little over a year ago, There was the crowded court room, the same defendant and attorneys for state and
